William R. Kinsella

Dear Brother:

During a recent Mass service at my church, a dozen or so teenagers took part in a brief but moving ceremony. They publicly proclaimed to the congregation their desire to receive confirmation and pledged their commitment to study and prepare until the Bishop found them to be ready. (Confirmation is the spiritual "coming of age" for a young adult in the Catholic faith). It was a very impressive ceremony and not all that easy for an average twelve or thirteen year old to do. Afterward I asked my wife "Did we have to do that when we were confirmed?" "No, dear," she replied "It was different in our day".

Now mind you, "our day" was not that many years ago but it did bring to mind how things can change. As I thought about that ceremony, I also recalled how much the performance of the Mass service itself has changed. The Mass was said in Latin, the priest performed the service facing away from the people and the congregation traditionally didn't participate at all. Today, the Mass is said in the congregation's local language, the priest faces the people so they can see what he's doing and the congregation actively participates in many parts of the service. What remarkable changes in just over 25 years or so, especially when you consider they were made by a worldwide organization, with several hundred million members, a large bureaucracy and close to 2,000 years of tradition.

As I thought about some of these changes, especially this brand new approach to confirmation—well, at least brand new to me—I began to wonder if this was really the Church I had grown up with and believed in. But as I looked carefully at these changes, at these new traditions, I could see that the essential teachings and message of the Church are still the same now as then. What has changed is the approach to delivering the message. Saying the Mass in English just seems to make more sense in the U.S. than saying it in Latin. Educating young adults before confirming them in their faith hopefully will make them stronger and more active in their church as they mature and bring forward the next generation. While these new traditions may take a little getting used to, they really aren't a threat to me or the Church and will only help in the long term to build a better and stronger Church.

Tradition. Just saying the word can evoke a powerful emotional response from many people; it reminds us of the way things used to be, of the way we were. Traditions can be a powerful force to join people of different generations and different backgrounds. This is true whether the organization is worldwide, with several hundred million members, a large bureaucracy and close to 2,000 years of history, or it is national, with 150,000 members, a medium bureaucracy and 85 years of history, traditions are important. They can be a positive, motivational force; a means to inspire loyalty and enthusiasm to the organization.

But sometimes we get so caught up in tradition, in the fact that something has always been done in this way or that, that the tradition becomes an end in itself. Whether it's in our business, our Fraternity or our chapter, we should keep on asking "Why are we doing things the way we are"? If the answer is something like "We don't know" or "It's always been done that way" then perhaps the tradition is in need of overhaul or replacement. If the answer to the "why" question doesn't make sense, then we need to ask "Should we keep on doing it that way we've been doing it?" "What are the alternatives?" For example, "Why do we want to have 100 collegiate members in our chapter?", "Why do we perform initiation practices not in our Ritual?" "Why do we always have the same professional speakers?" This applies at the Fraternity level as well. For example, "Why does the Executive Committee need to hold conference calls in between meetings?" "Why does this magazine have to look the way it does?" "Why do we have to pay Fraternity dues?" "Why do we need a Risk Management Policy". I'm sure that there are hundreds of similar questions that can be asked at all levels of the Fraternity and your chapter. Whether caused by external forces, or led by internal forces, our methods and practices need to be continually reviewed and asked "why"? Now I realize that this can become a nuisance, sort of like when my four year old constantly asks why about everything. But just like she learns from the answers, so too we learn from the answer to the "why" question. We learn, we grow, we improve ourselves and our organization. We make sure that our traditions serve us, not the other way around.

Fraternally yours,

William R. Kinsella

CONVENTION OVERVIEW

It's now time to plan to be in Anaheim, California, home of Disneyland, for the 39th Grand Chapter Congress — the preeminent event of Delta Sigma Pi.

August 17 through 22, 1993 are the official convention dates but the preferences and needs of each participant will determine individual arrival dates. Everyone, collegiate and alumni alike, are invited to participate in the pre-convention cruise on Royal Caribbean's Viking Serenade. Collegiate chapter officers will want to register for the Officer Training School that begins early on Tuesday, August 17th. Most other participants will want to arrive either on Tuesday to experience a variety of Optional Events or on Wednesday. All participants will want to arrange departure no earlier than Sunday, August 22nd in order to have the Saturday night stay that virtually all discounted air fares require.

In the last issue of The DELTASIG, we provided information on Anaheim and the surrounding Southern California area as well as information on the amenities of The Anaheim Marriott Hotel. This issue provides complete details on the convention on a day-by-day basis and includes registration (see page 21), hotel and travel information.

TUESDAY

On this day, collegiate chapter officers and those aspiring to those roles as well as fraternity volunteer officers will participate in the Officer Training School. Details on this program are found in the feature article elsewhere in this issue.

After a day of intensive learning and sharing, all convention attendees can participate in the optional California Beach Bash. Those who register for this event will be transported from The Anaheim Marriott to one of Orange County's finest beaches. This will be a special event with beach games, sun, sand and what we expect to be a spectacular sunset.

WEDNESDAY

The morning, afternoon and early evening hours have been left totally open for the enjoyment of all. This is the time to sightsee, to shop or to just sun poolside. Participants can choose from a variety of Optional Events including; a full day excursion to Catalina Island, a comprehensive "You'll Love L.A." tour including Beverly Hills and Hollywood with stops at Olvera Street in downtown Los Angeles and at famous Mann's Chinese Theater in Hollywood, and a partial day trip to Balboa Island and Newport Beach for shopping, tanning and fun.

During the afternoon, the biennial meeting of the Delta Sigma Pi Educational Foundation will occur.

On Wednesday night, the Grand President's Reception and Opening Dance will kick off the convention. These events provide a perfect opportunity to meet the various volunteer and staff leaders of the fraternity and to meet other convention participants. Concurrent with the Opening Dance will be the Yellow Dog and Pink Poodle Initiations — traditional events that occur only at a Grand Chapter Congress.

THURSDAY

The business of The Grand Chapter gets underway bright and early on this day. There will be morning, afternoon and evening business sessions. The morning session will include a variety of recognitions and business matters. Additionally, the Keynote Address will be delivered by Christina Lewis. Christina is an initiate of Theta Phi Chapter at South Florida and the Director of the National Speakers Bureau for the National Association for Persons with AIDS.

Late in the morning, the members of the Royal Order of the Pink Poodles, an organization open to female spouses of members of Delta Sigma Pi, will have their biennial brunch and meeting.

At the afternoon session, nominations for fraternity volunteer officers will be made and various official reports will be delivered. Later in the afternoon and at the evening session, legislation amending the Bylaws and the Ritual will be considered by the delegates.

FRIDAY

Friday morning will get underway with the Career Fair. Representatives from a variety of companies will be present to discuss employment opportunities with both collegiate and alumni members. This program will be followed by the Awards Luncheon at which all of the fraternity-wide awards and other special recognitions will be presented. Also, the 1992 and 1993 Collegians of the Year will be introduced and will present remarks.

During the afternoon, seminars for collegiate and alumni members will be conducted. After dinner on Friday evening, the Meet the Candidates session will be held. Participants will have the chance to hear and to question the candidates for Grand President and Vice President for Alumni Benefits and Services. After that session, there will be smaller sessions for the candidates for Provincial Vice President and Regional Director to meet with their delegations.

SATURDAY

This will be the final full day of convention activities. At the Final Business Session, elections for the new Board of Directors will be conducted. Additionally, resolutions and recognitions will be heard and the 1993-1995 Board of Directors will be installed.

After lunch, there will be a variety of sessions on fraternity issues and a special interactive session on Fraternity History. Later in the afternoon, the National Honorary Initiation will occur. An initiation team, selected from among the top performing chapters, will conduct the ceremonies to initiate an outstanding business leader. This newest member of Delta Sigma Pi will briefly address the participants.

The magic of the entire convention will culminate in the final event, the Grand Chapter Congress Banquet and Ball. Those who participate in this event dress in their finest as this is the celebration of days gone by as well as the future of Delta Sigma Pi. A number of distinctive recognitions will be made during the program and Executive Director Mike Mazur always has a banquet surprise or two for the enjoyment of all. Immediately after the banquet program, the band goes into full gear for dancing into the early morning hours.

Officer Training Schools

August 17th, 1993
Anaheim, California

October 2nd and 3rd, 1993
Atlanta, Georgia

October 9th and 10th, 1993
Storrs, Connecticut

October 16th and 17th, 1993
Dallas, Texas

October 23rd and 24th, 1993
Chicago, Illinois

Officer Training Schools are designed to help fraternity and chapter officers develop and enhance their chapters individually and the fraternity as a whole.

The first Officer Training School in 1993 will be conducted in Anaheim, California as a part of the 39th Grand Chapter Congress. The Officer Training School in Anaheim will offer only topics of interest to collegiate chapter officers. Four additional Training Schools are scheduled for the fall of 1993 and these four schools will offer topics for both collegiate members and volunteer fraternity officials.

Who should attend an Officer Training School? It's really quite simple: all current collegiate chapter officers whether a veteran or newly elected; any collegiate members who aspire to become an officer; alumni Brothers who have an interest in learning the skills to become an effective volunteer fraternity officer; and all current volunteer fraternity officers including District Directors and Regional Directors.

The Benefits of Attending an OTiS are many. For Chapter Officers, you will discover new ideas for enhanced chapter programs. You will be provided with an opportunity to interact with fellow officers for the sharing of solutions to common problems. Additionally, you will be able to enhance your problem solving skills through role playing exercises, and acquire valuable skills in effective chapter management.

On the collegiate level, sessions are planned on Saturday for the specific areas of recruiting, member education and finances. Sessions on general chapter management skills that apply to all operational areas will also be offered. Each moment of the day is designed to develop and enhance the skills and knowledge needed by chapter leaders to provide the best chapter experience for themselves and their fellow members.

For volunteers, you will learn about the duties of a District Director, Regional Director, and even of the Grand President. You will also develop more effective communication and presentation skills that work with collegiate members nationwide. Finally, expect to learn techniques and methods which will allow you to get the greatest results with less effort, and master the skills needed to get to the "heart of problems."

Dallas

Southern hospitality is well known and well practiced in the great state of Texas, especially in the city of Dallas. Known world wide for its unique combination of Western traditions and cosmopolitan flair, Dallas is one of the most popular visitors locations in the Southwest. Shopping, dining, cultural attractions, and sporting events abound in Dallas.

The Brothers of Beta Phi Chapter at Southern Methodist University will serve as hosts for the Officer Training School on October 16 - 17, 1993. The SMU campus is well known for its great beauty and is considered by many to be one of the more attractive campuses in the country. Brothers and guests are encouraged to see the local attractions including the West End MarketPlace, McKinney Avenue, Deep Ellum, the Galleria, and Lower Greenville Avenue.

Storrs

The perfect college town has never been identified but for many graduates of the University of Connecticut, the town of Storrs must certainly be considered. Located twenty-five miles east of Hartford, the town of Storrs is best known for the university located there. Fall is one of the best times to visit Storrs as the foliage is spectacular.

The Brothers of Theta Iota Chapter will host the 1993 Officer Training School on October 9 - 10, 1993. This is the first time that an Officer Training School has been conducted in Storrs. As with many college towns, hotel accommodations are limited and Deltasigs are encouraged to reserve rooms early.

Atlanta

Atlanta, Georgia is more than just the home for the upcoming 1996 Olympic Games. Atlanta is known throughout the Southeast as a great town to visit. Selected for its easy access by car, plane, and train, Atlanta will serve as host to Deltasigs from across the country on October 2 - 3, 1993.

Kappa Chapter at Georgia State University will be hosting the Training School on the downtown Georgia State campus. The campus is conveniently located to such Atlanta landmarks as Underground Atlanta, The World of Coca-Cola, Atlanta-Fulton County Stadium, and the State Capital. Transportation to suburban locations is easily available on the MARTA rapid rail system. Georgia State University has its own station on the east rail line.

Chicago

Chicago is one of America's premier cities. Home to thousands of large and small companies, Chicago offers unlimited opportunities to see the world of business in action. Many visitors to Chicago take time to shop on Michigan Avenue, sightsee from the Sears Tower, and tour the city's museums. Other tourists rarely leave the dining and shopping options offered on State Street and the Loop.

The Lincoln Park campus of DePaul University will be the site of the Officer Training School on October 23 - 24, 1993. Brothers of Alpha Omega Chapter will serve as hosts to those Deltasigs visiting from outside the Chicago area. The campus is conveniently located to downtown Chicago and to commuter rail service.

For volunteer fraternity officials, an abundance of materials designed to broaden their leadership skills will be provided. Educational sessions are scheduled for Sunday at each of the four Officer Training Schools scheduled in October. Volunteers are elected to lead the fraternity and their information needs are especially important to Delta Sigma Pi. The more highly skilled and trained are the volunteers; the stronger the organization.

For everyone, the Officer Training School provides an excellent opportunity to meet and get to know the volunteer and staff leaders of the fraternity, and learn how these Brothers can help you.

Not only will you broaden your knowledge of Delta Sigma Pi on a fraternity-wide basis, but you will also maximize your potential as a fraternity leader.

Registrations are now being accepted for the Officer Training School in Anaheim, California scheduled on August 17, 1993. Brothers may register for this Training School when they register for the Grand Chapter Congress. Registration forms for the remaining four schools will be mailed to all collegiate chapter officers and fraternity officials during the summer months.

The advance registration fee for attending any of the four 1993 Officer Training Schools in October will be $ 20.00 per attendee ($ 25.00 on site). This fee includes all printed materials used in the Officer Training School program and a copy of the Training School Workbook. Meals and accommodations are not included as a part of the registration fees.

Experience a renewal of enthusiasm for the fraternity in a professional and a fun-filled series of events — attend an Officer Training School.

Mu Chi Chapter

Installed at the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs

Joseph L. Goldblatt, Paul J. P. Garcia, John F. Ryan, William R. Kinsella and Dale M. Clark gather for the presentation of the Mu Chi Chapter Charter.

On the morning of January 23, 1993, representatives from collegiate chapters in the Western Province gathered along with national officers for the installation ceremonies of the fraternity's 232nd and newest collegiate chapter as Mu Chi Chapter at the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs, Colorado. This is the fifth chapter established in the state of Colorado and is a part of the Intermountain Region in the Western Province. Grand President William R. Kinsella, Western Provincial Vice President Paul J. P. Garcia, Intermountain Regional Director Joseph L. Goldblatt, Director of Chapter Services Dale M. Clark, Tracy L. Jackson and other members of the Alpha Rho Chapter at the University of Colorado-Boulder, Zeta Kappa Chapter at Western

State College and Mu Rho Chapter at Colorado State University comprised the installation team for Mu Chi Chapter which resulted in the initiation of 47 charter members.

Following the installation of the chapter, a reception and banquet was held at the Marriott Hotel in Colorado Springs. Intermountain Regional Director Joseph L. Goldblatt served as Toastmaster for the ceremony. The Invocation was given by Mu Chi Chapter members Mary Haerkorn and Tanya Harrison, and Greetings were extended from Faculty Advisor Thomas J. Zuirlein. A history of the College of Business was presented by Chancellor Dwayne C. Nuzum. Mu Chi Chapter Historian Patricia Haas and Mu Chi Chapter member Chris Richards presented the his-

Grand President William R. Kinsella then presented the charge and charter to Chapter President John F. Ryan and Director of Chapter Services Dale M. Clark presented Fraternal Greetings from chapters and members across the country welcoming Mu Chi Chapter.

After determining that there was a need for a fraternity to be organized on the campus of the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs, John Ryan, Jeff Chandler, and Alex Lefur requested information from several organizations in November of 1991. They concluded that Delta Sigma Pi would provide the best opportunity for the professional association between students and the community.

In December, Western Provincial Vice President Paul J. P. Garcia and Richard Blevins, a District Director from the South Pacific Region, visited the campus to discuss Delta Sigma Pi with interested students. After this initial contact, a group of interested students decided to begin the Chi Chi Chi Colony. Additional materials were sent to these students and organizational meetings were held throughout the winter break to study the material and laws of Delta Sigma Pi.

On January 23, 1992 a letter was received at The Central Office from Dean James T. Rothe authorizing the establishment of a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi on the campus of the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs. A letter of intent was received from the students on January 30, 1992. The first colony meeting was also held on this date with 31 business students in attendance. The colony held 13 business meetings and 10 executive committee meetings throughout the spring and summer semesters.

On February 24, 1992, The Central Office received a roster of members, minutes from past meetings, and a list of officers. On February 27, 1992 the colony held their first professional speaker, Jena Herman from the Better Business Bureau. On May 2, 1992 the colony participated in its first community service event and adopted a 2 1/2 mile stretch of road near the university to clean up trash on the right of ways. Member teams also participated in the Adopt-A-Park Program, sponsored by the Parks and Recreation Department.

The University of Colorado at Colorado Springs was originally established as the Colorado Springs Extension Center, administered by the University of Colorado at Boulder, and was housed at various temporary downtown locations in its early years. In 1964, the Cragmor Foundation gifted 82.5 acres of land at the foot of Austin Bluffes in northeast Colorado Springs to the University of Colorado, which is the current location of the university. In the 1970's, a separate library facility, sciences building, and the first phase of the student center were constructed. With further land donations, the campus area grew to the present 420 acres. The most recent phase of construction included the Engineering Building and expansion of the University Center. Plans for the expansion of the graduate programs and construction of a research park and residential housing are underway.

The university is one of four campuses in the University of Colorado system, and its standards and course offerings are closely coordinated with that system. The university is a commuter institution offering divisions in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, College of Engineering and Applied Science, Education, Graduate School of Business Administration and Graduate School of Public Affairs.

The University of Colorado at Colorado Springs received NCA accreditation and full university status in 1972. A year-round instructional program consisting of a 16-week spring and fall semester and an 8-week summer semester are operated at this campus. The university celebrated its 25th anniversary in 1991 with a student body of 6,000 students. In its 25-year history 9,582 students have graduated from the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs.

The College of Business was established at the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs in 1965 and is the only business college in Southern Colorado with American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business accreditation, and is one of about 300 nationwide with AACSB accreditation for its MBA program. Majors in the undergraduate program include Accounting, Finance, Information systems, Information Systems/Accounting, Organizational Management, Marketing, Personnel-Human Resources Management, Production/Operations Management, Public Agency Administration, and Small Business Management. MBA degrees are also offered in all of the above areas. Approximately 625 students are currently enrolled in the College of Business.

WESTERN PROVINCE

INTERMOUNTAIN

ARIZONA, GAMMA PSI—Upon returning to school after the summer break, the members of the Gamma Psi Chapter were filled with excitement as we turned our attention to the future.

We started out the Fall 1992 semester with a chapter retreat at a Brother's house, planning out procedures to be used for the current semester. A "Futures" meeting was also held every week, with the topic ranging anywhere from fund-raising and community service to the overall brotherhood of the chapter.

We at the Gamma Psi Chapter envision this future-planning as a method of continuing our efficiency, as well as a means for improving our chapter.

—Greg Brewer

ARIZONA STATE, GAMMA OMEGA—The chapter has been busy with fund raisers, community service projects and sports competition. Our fund raisers ranged from car washes to doing inventory count for Sears. During April, we ran the elections at Arizona State University.

We were involved on campus as well as off campus with community service projects by helping with career fiesta. During this activity we helped the employers set up their booths and did general errands. Off campus we went through Tempe Home Services to help out the elderly in their homes. During Christmas we donated presents to underprivileged children.

Another off campus activity was a volleyball tournament between the business fraternities and organizations. The chapter placed first in this event.

—Sean Core

NEW MEXICO STATE, EPSILON UPSILON—Epsilon Upsilon Chapter began on February 1, with the beginning of our recruitment week. In February we had our pledging ceremony and our Big Brother/Little Brother social.

Our next event was the Big Brother/Little Brother picnic. We played volleyball, football, and ate a great deal of food. The picnic was followed with a meeting on that Tuesday that was a "fun time" meeting. This meeting gives the members and pledges a chance to interact in a social surrounding and breaks the tension that can be caused by the overall pledging process. Our next event was our semester Adopt-A-Highway.

As a Fund-raiser, we held a country and western dance. The band that performed was called "90 Proof."

This semester has been an experience the Epsilon Upsilon Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi will never forget. We hope to continue the positive steps toward success that we have begun and will strive to share our accomplishments with the whole Delta Sigma Pi fraternity. We look forward to Grand Chapter Congress in August.

WESTERN STATE, ZETA KAPPA—Zeta Kappa chapter is conquering mountains, not only on the slopes but internally as well. At the 1992 Intermountain Regional Conference in September we were honored with The Most Improved Chapter Award. As a result of our outstanding accomplishments, we hope to continue growing and sponsoring regional events. In November, we hosted our first regional event which was the Zeta Kappa ski free weekend. Brothers from Arizona State University and Colorado State University enjoyed cutting some turns on the sloped of Mt. Crested Butte, Colorado.

We would like to extend a warm Colorado welcome to all of our brothers. Good luck in all of your fraternal endeavors, and we'll see you at Grand Chapter Congress!

COLORADO STATE, MU RHO—Mu Rho Chapter at Colorado State University has made great strides. In just one year since their installation on December 7, 1991, we have grown from 31 to 75 active members. Our biggest achievement was receiving the 1991-92 Business College Council "Business Club of the Year Award"! We were selected out of 20 clubs in the school of business and we feel that this is a very significant achievement since we were just starting out anew. Our chapter also has the honor of having the dean, Dr. Richard Peggnetter, as a fellow Deltasig.

In December of 1992, we attended a ski trip with the Zeta Kappa Chapter and held a joint formal with Alpha Rho Chapter. This semester's events include a rigorous recruiting schedule, volunteer work with the Junior League and clean-up of our adopted highway. In addition, we have plans to get acquainted with the newly initiated chapter of Mu Chi in Colorado Springs and start a new chapter at the University of Wyoming!

We hope to strengthen our image on the campus and make their school, the Fort Collins Community and their brothers nationwide proud!

—Cory A. Henderson

SOUTH PACIFIC

CAL STATE-NORTHRIDGE, IOTA UPSILON—This year our chapter put into effect new recruiting ideas and as a result we are proud to have initiated 15 new brothers. We've dedicated ourselves in numerous community service events such as raising money to sponsor a Malaysian boy, cleaning up graffiti in the local area and helping to feed the homeless by collecting canned foods. We have continued to promote successful professional events which included KTLA's news anchor Larry McCormick, who stressed communications skills as an important part of business and our everyday lives. On our social side, our annual winter retreat in Big Bear was great as well as were the parties and activities we did together as a chapter.

With the spring semester upon us we are still going strong and our plans and goals are on track.

—Carina A. de Quiroz

CAL POLY-SAN LUIS OBISPO, KAPPA MU—Kappa Mu Chapter just initiated its 357th member, and the new Brothers from the Phi Pledge Class are proving that they share a special love for and dedication to Delta Sigma Pi. During their 12 week pledge period they took part in a city wide project to re-plant many trees in a park which had been destroyed by a fire. The pledge class was featured on the local news.

Brothers from Kappa Mu Chapter hold one of their recruiting functions at a local park.

Your Chapter Speaks

So far in the 1992-1993 school year, the chapter has travelled away from San Luis Obispo on a few occasions. First, we took a short drive down to Solvang for the Regional Conference, and then we ventured on a road trip down to UCR to celebrate Founders' Day with Lambda Chi. Finally, our latest excursion was to Hollywood, on a tour of Paramount Pictures. From seeing the parking lot where the Red Sea was parted in the "Ten Commandments" to sitting next to the bar where Norm and Cliff drink beers in "Cheers," the whole trip was quite and incredible experience.

What lies in store for the future? First, about 20 of us are planning on driving down to Long Beach for the Area Conference.

—Randy Bennett

SAN DIEGO, LAMBDA PI—In October, Lambda Pi Chapter and Iota Pi Chapter held a joint professional event. Frank Ensign, a retired CEO with Fujitsu, was the speaker.

At the South Pacific Regional Conference, 10 brothers from Lambda Pi Chapter attended and met a lot of Brothers in the region.

In December, 17 new members were initiated into Lambda Pi Chapter. We hope for a similar number this semester.

—William E. Homan

FULLERTON, LAMBDA SIGMA—Lambda Sigma Chapter has been striving to be the best in the South Pacific Region. By promoting Brotherhood all semester long, the chapter hopes to achieve our goal to be the best.

Lambda Sigma promoted quality programs beginning with the Professional Program. Speakers were invited to share with us their skills in interviewing techniques and on communicating with staff members at the work place. We had a couple of tours which included a joint tour with Iota Upsilon Chapter of CSU Northridge of the Pacific Stock Exchange and a tour of Ciat-Day-Mojo, an advertising firm famous for the Energizer bunny.

In November we hosted our fourth annual Founders' Day Formal. Brothers from Riverside and Long Beach also attended.

With Grand Chapter Congress around the corner, our focus will be on creating an exciting and memorable time for all those who attend.

—Devang Mehta

CALIFORNIA-RIVERSIDE, LAMBDA CHI—Lambda Chi Chapter has a great deal for which to be proud. At our Regional Conference we won the Chapter of the Year Award and the Travel Award for having the most Brothers attend Regional Conference. In addition, we initiated 8 pledges and have adopted an elementary school. Coming soon is recruiting and a tour of Karcher Enterprises.

LONG BEACH, LAMBDA PHI—Lambda Phi Chapter added a successful program to its calendar this fall... "World of Business."

The "World of Business" was our main professional event this semester hosted by our

Vice President of Professional Activities Leah Bergman. This event entailed current topics affecting business on an international scale covering the pros and cons of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), Doing business with Japan, and the European Community. Speakers David Zelig, Richard Talley, and Leslie Williams did a spectacular job on presenting these topics. As there were one hundred people who attended the "World of Business," we can proudly say that it was a great success!

Next semester marks our chapter's 5th year anniversary. To say the least, it's going to be awesome! Aside from continuing to strengthen our professional and recruiting programs, we will definitely be strengthening our social activities -- primarily at our 5th Year Anniversary Banquet.

—Anthony Soto

SAN DIEGO STATE UNIVERSITY, IOTA PI—Greetings from the most ecstatic chapter in the nation, Iota Pi! We are eagerly anticipating meeting over one thousand of our Brothers at the Grand Chapter Congress here in our own backyard. After the honor of receiving two national awards last year, Iota Pi is working diligently to preserve our high standards of excellence through dedication, commitment, and brotherhood.

Our professional program has charged forward, highlighted by speakers from the FBI and our Mayor Susan Golding. Our greatest strength continues to be our generous contributions to the community. We cleaned the beach for Sea World, "Decked the Malls" for Junior Achievement, and took calls on TV for KPBS. Our social activities program is approached with the same intensity and enthusiasm. The most memorable events were our Annual Alumni Homecoming Tailgate, where during half-time two of our Brothers were announced on the Homecoming Court, and our semi-annual mad dash across the Mexican border for margaritas and lobster.

—Peter Geiger

WESTERN

NEVADA-RENO, DELTA PI—This past summer we were lucky to have OTiS right here in Reno. Our chapter took advantage of the location and many Brothers attended. This was a great boost to our chapter, particularly in the area of recruiting. This past fall we tried several new recruiting tactics with great success. We initiated 11 new Brothers. The ideas we received both from OTiS and Brothers from other chapters made a change for the better. We have learned to be more aggressive in our recruiting and we hope to continue to grow and renew our strength.

—Dawn A. Pack

CALIFORNIA STATE -CHICO, EPSILON THETA—Epsilon Theta Chapter at CSU, Chico is paving new roads of success for our Brothers. to strive to be the best. Our chapter has benefited from numerous professional speakers and tours from companies like Andersen Consulting, and our local micro-brewery Sierra Nevada.

Brothers from Theta Phi Chapter on a professional tour of a local television station.

Each semester our chapter co-sponsors a career fair, giving students the opportunity to meet with prospective employers. Over forty companies participated in this semester's highly successful fair. Epsilon Theta Chapter is looking to the future with enthusiasm and optimism for an excellent year.

—Michelle MacDonald

PACIFIC, LAMBDA MU—Lambda Mu Chapter is looking forward to another productive and exciting semester. In the fall semester of '92 we had a large incoming pledge class, whom we are confident will continue the fine tradition of leadership, professionalism, and innovation that Delta Sigma Pi has been known for.

We are planning many activities for the Spring '93 semester, one of which may be a Spring Fling, which is a dance organized for the elderly community of the Stockton area. We are also trying to set up a joint partnership with a new bakery nearby to advertise for them as well as possibly helping them with their bookkeeping.

When the spring starts again we will set our plans for the semester, all of which we hope will continue to let the University and community know that Delta Sigma Pi is dedicated to professionalism and leadership, and especially Brotherhood.

SOUTHERN PROVINCE GULF SOUTH

LOYOLA-NEW ORLEANS, DELTA NU—When the pledge class of Delta Nu's Fall 1992 semester threw a party for Delta Sigma Pi members, you could say they went all out. Labeled the "Delta Sigmadelic," the bash involved a sixties atmosphere, including such contests as awarding the member best resembling the fashion of the hippie era. Held in a spacious rental room on Loyola University's Broadway Campus, the members (and the pledges alike) danced away the unrelenting stress of college life to the classic hits of such greats as Jimi Hendrix and The Doors. Delta Nu Chapter will always remember October 23, 1992 as the ultimate release from the rigid requirement of college and the fraternity.

—Rhett Bailey

NEW ORLEANS, EPSILON NU—The Fall of 1992 was a very rewarding semester for Epsilon Nu. As is our yearly tradition, we participated in the "Christmas in October" community service program refurbishing homes for the needy and elderly. One of our social activities included Big Brother/Little Brother night at the Deutches Haus German Club celebrating Oktoberfest. Upcoming events include community service program "Save the Wetlands" tree tying project, several professional speakers from the Greater New Orleans area, co-sponsorship of Career Day, an Alumni Homecoming event, and parade-going during our Mardi Gras holidays.

WEST FLORIDA, ETA UPSILON—Eta Upsilon at the University of West Florida has had a busy and exciting semester. The Brothers participated in a food drive for a local charity and volunteered at a local elementary school's carnival. We supported the University by working a job fair and Homecoming. The job fair, career Waves, brought over thirty businesses in to talk to students about what they were looking for during interviews. Deltasigs were guides and manned the information booth. The chapter received a plaque for its efforts at making Homecoming a success. Our faculty advisor, Dr. Antonio Apap, was nominated for the University's Distinguished Teaching Award.

Probably the most exciting event for the chapter was our Founders' Day celebration. Our chapter gathered for food, fun, and the celebration of the founding of Delta Sigma Pi.

SOUTHWESTERN LOUISIANA, KAPPA XI—Kappa Xi Chapter was honored by hosting the Gulf South Regional Conference. There was overwhelming enthusiasm by the chapter, as over 50% of our membership were in attendance for this special event.

In choosing the professional activities for the 1992-1993 school year, the Brothers decided to place an emphasis on Total Quality Management. This approach is getting much more attention and we are incorporating this technique into our program through a series of guest speakers and video tape presentations on this topic in the hopes that Total Quality Management can not only apply to our business endeavors, but also our personal lives.

During the fall semester we initiated six members. These Brothers have already proven to be of great importance to the Kappa Xi Chapter as they have all become either officers or key executive members.

Plans are in the process to initiate more members this Spring semester whom are of a high caliber and standing in the University of Southwestern Louisiana.

When we boarded the minibus to make the long trip back home, we had the energy and smiles to prove that we had been announced Most Outstanding Chapter in the Region and Nation. Our Chapter Advisor was also named Most Outstanding Chapter Advisor in the Nation.

Delta Sigma Pi Career Achievement Award

Recently, at a special recognition luncheon, William R. (W.R.) Howell, Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer of J.C. Penney Company, Inc., was presented with the Deltasig Career Achievement Award. Instituted three years ago, Brother Howell is the first recipient of this recognition.

A native of Claremore, Oklahoma, Brother Howell was initiated by the Beta Epsilon Chapter at the University of Oklahoma in 1956 and graduated in 1958 with a B.B.A. in Business Management. He also holds an Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree from Saint Peter's College in Jersey City, New Jersey.

Howell has been with J.C. Penney for his entire professional life. He began in 1958 as a management trainee in Tulsa, Oklahoma and held a variety of store management positions in Norman and Oklahoma City. In 1971 he was transferred to the New York Headquarters as small stores coordinator in regional operations. During the 1970's and early 1980's, he was promoted to a variety of positions and, in 1983, was named chairman of the board and CEO.

Brother Howell led the associates of J.C. Penney through a major change when the corporate headquarters was moved from New York to Dallas, Texas. During December, 1992, over 3,300 associates of J.C. Penney moved to a 1.9 million square foot, state of the art Home Office. This facility cost approximately 40% of the value of J.C. Penney's former New York office including repairs for necessary improvements. Brother Howell takes great pride in this effort, proclaiming that it came in "on time and under budget."

In addition to his career at Penney's, Brother Howell serves as a Director for Exxon Corporation, Warner-Lambert Company, NYNEX Corporation and Bankers Trust. He is also a Director of the National Retail Merchants Association. In the civic and community arena, he is a Director of the National Urban League, United Way of America, the National Organization on Disability and the North Texas Commission. A member of the Prestonwood Baptist Church, he is married and has two daughters.

The recognition luncheon for Brother Howell was held at The Sheraton Park Central Hotel in Dallas. Grand President William R. Kinsella presided over the program and, assisted by Executive Director Mike Mazur, presented the engraved glass Deltasig Career Achievement Award to Brother Howell. In addition to the Executive Committee, several members of the Board of Directors, members of The Central Office staff, Dallas area District Directors and representatives of Beta Epsilon Chapter at Oklahoma were present.
